Lie Will Demand U.N. Guard Backed By Full Authority

Paris Conference Clouded by Tense Situation in Berlin. Other Factors

Paris, Sept. 20 (AP)—Secretary General Trygve Lie will demand urgent formation of a United Nations guard to forestall such acts as the assassination of Count Folke Bernadotte and to maintain order in disturbed areas.

As soon as possible after the 54 nations delegates assemble tomorrow, the U.N. administrative chief will ask for a United Nations constabulary of from 1,000 to 5,000 men backed by "the full authority of the United Nations."

A well-informed source at U.N. headquarters said today Lie had already made contact with a number of national delegations and generally received a favorable reply.

U. S. Secretary of State Marshall and British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin have both arrived for tomorrow's opening. Problems arising out of the tense situation in Berlin and other factors in the cold war between east and west overshadowed the conference.

A meeting of the three western foreign ministers, Marshall, Bevin and Robert Schuman of France, was expected with the possibility that the Berlin crisis may be laid before the 54 nations.

Both Bevin and Marshall will have their top advisers on Germany with them by tonight. Berlin dispatches said American Military Governor Gen. Lucius Clay will fly to Paris to report to Marshall this afternoon. His British colleague, Gen. Sir Brian Robertson, is going to confer with Bevin.

The French capital by W. Bedell Smith, U. S. ambassador to Russia, Moscow dispatches said, and Frank Roberts, Britain's special envoy who has been participating in talks with the Soviets on the future of Berlin.

In his annual report to the General Assembly, Trygve Lie said a U.N. constabulary would have "greatly increased the effectiveness of the work of the Security Council, and have saved many lives, particularly in Indonesia and Palestine."

Lie is to present his report to the Assembly soon after the opening session.

Dr. Jose Arce of Argentina, re-elected president of the General Assembly, told the Associated Press Saturday the United Nations needed an army of 10,000 to maintain order in Palestine alone.

The Security Council's Big Five Power Military Staff Committee is charged by the charter with forming a U. S. police force. The military committee, in more than two years, has reached no agreement on details of formation of the force.

Dispatches from India said the Hyderabad government has ordered its security council representative, Nawab Moin Nawaz Jung, to withdraw his state's complaint over the Indian invasion.

Marshall arrived at 9 a. m. (4 a. m. Eastern Standard Time). He and his party arrived at Orly Field in President Truman's plane. The Independence, after an uneventful 15 hour and 50-minute flight from Washington.

Accompanying Marshall were his wife, Charles B. Bohlen of the State Department, Mrs. Bohlen; Brig. Gen. Marshall S. Carter, the secretary's special assistant; Fredrick Reinhardt, a state department political officer; and Lt. Harry Piser and Sgt. Clarence A. George, military aides.

A number of the party said Marshall kept close touch with the Berlin situation and other world's developments by the plane's radio.

The opening session of the Assembly will be held in the main auditorium of the Palace de Chaillot, the United Nations' home for the next three months.

The arrival of Bevin and Marshall gave the three major western powers full representation at the U. N. The latest word from Moscow, however, indicated that Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov would stay there. The Russian delegation is headed by Vice-Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky.

Dewey Due To Outline His Policies

Major Talk to Be Made at Des Moines About Basic Principles of Free Government

'Peace' Is Theme

En route West with Dewey, Sept. 20 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey bore down on a "peace and freedom" theme today as his special train rolled westward toward Des Moines and a major campaign speech tonight.

Shrugging off vigorous attacks on the Republicans by President Truman, the G.O.P. presidential nominee prepared to tell the country just what kind of a government he expects to run if he is elected in November.

His secretary, Paul Lockwood, gave reporters a brief preview. Lockwood said Dewey intends to "pledge his unwavering adherence" to "the basic principles and purposes of free government."

"He believes that they must be followed by the next administration in order to unite America and to carry forward in a troubled world the hope of freedom and the living premise that men can be free and that free men can live in peace," Lockwood added.

This peace-and-freedom theme seemed unlikely to parallel proposals made by Henry Wallace, Progressive Party candidate for president, toward the same objectives.

In fact, aides said they expect Dewey to pledge himself to a firm stand against any further widening of Russian authority in Europe or Asia.

Wallace has urged that this country get together with the Russians.

Dewey long ago made his stand clear.

He told audiences in Oregon even before he was nominated that "the battle against Communism is going to be a long, tough one."

He said that America might as well recognize that Communism has its best chance with people who are hungry, poorly clothed and ill housed. He said this country must use its food to fight Communism.

This put Dewey in a position to urge—in what his aides called a blueprint of his policies to be laid down in the Des Moines speech—the adoption of new social welfare legislation to combat poverty and unemployment.

The Republican candidate had a busy day ahead of him, beginning with a train stop at Englewood, Ill., outside of Chicago, at 7 a. m. Eastern Standard Time.

There a delegation headed by Gov. Dwight Green and Sen. C. W. Youngdahl was to board the 17-car special train for the ride to Rock Island, Ill. Dewey then was to hike to Spencer Park for an open air meeting and a brief address.

He took his train to Rock Island, Ill., where he was to receive 80 newsmen and cameramen—was to proceed to Davenport, Iowa, and pick up a party headed by Gov. Robert D. Blue of Iowa.

Senator George Wilson, Republican who is fighting a battle with Democrat Jerry Gillette for an Iowa Senate seat, was to climb aboard, along with Senator B. B. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa), National Committeeman Harrison Spangler and others.

With his arrival in Des Moines (5:35 p. m., E.S.T.) Dewey was to receive from Mayor Helms Ross a letter of introduction to the city.

After meeting with a group of farm editors, he was scheduled to speak at Drake University Stadium. The speech will be continued on Page Thirteen.

Benedictine Hospital Has Graduation Rites for 17

A class of 17 nurses was graduated by the Benedictine Hospital School of Nursing Sunday afternoon at annual commencement exercises held in St. Mary's Church. The Rev. William A. Fee, C.Ss.R., professor of homiletics and modern languages at Mt. St. Alphonsus, Esopus, addressed the class. In his remarks he gave us two secrets of a happy life, faithfulness to God and unselfishness.

The Sister Aloysia Scholarship of $300, given by the medical class in nursing success by staff nurses alumnae association and ladies auxiliary, was awarded to Sister Mary Henrietta, O.S.B., who attained the highest average in the class, 92 per cent. The next highest average, 89.3 per cent was attained by Theresa Ann Dragotta.

Members of the class who received diplomas were: Dorothy Brown Claver, Lorraine Bernadette Cordeau, Florence Elizabeth Greenwood, Rosemarie Marabell, Caroline Mary Pekovitch and Mary Venditti of Kingston; Delia Consalva Brown, Stone Ridge; Catherine Veronica Connor, Jane Laetia Spicer, Bronx; Dorothy Christine Erickson and Theresa Ann Dwyer, Saugerties; Clara Catherine Gunder, Walton; Shirley Ann McCall, Poughkeepsie; Audrey Elizabeth O'Brien, Hunter; Ella Marie Tierney, New Paltz; Sister Henrietta Hemming and Agnes Veronica Hickey, Elizabeth, N. J.

In addressing the graduates, the Rev. Father Fee congratulated the class in attaining success by completing their nursing course. He spoke of the happiness which pervades the graduates' thoughts and gave his formula for a continued happy life.

His first consideration was faithfulness to God. During the training at the nursing school, the Rev. Father Fee told the nurses they had learned God's standards of life and had come close to Him. Continued faithfulness to these standards and God

Arab League Says Cabinet Formed

Amman, Trans-Jordan, Sept. 20 (AP)—Over the strong protests of Trans-Jordan and Iraq, the Arab League announced formation today of an Arab government for Palestine.

Ahmed Hilmy Pasha, military governor of the Arab-held section of Jerusalem, was appointed Prime Minister of the new government, an official announcement here said, despite a declaration that such a government would amount to partitioning Palestine.

The Arabs have fought against partition ever since the beginning, he said. King Abdullah refused to permit formation of the government within the security zone of the Trans-Jordan government, which extends from the Egyptian kingdom's frontiers, to the frontiers of Syria and Lebanon.

He added: "Creation of such a government is an arbitrary act without the consent of the Palestinian people, a thing I will not agree to and will oppose."

Abdullah's declaration thus brought to a head long-simmering differences over the formation of an Arab government for Palestine.

Abdullah has been pictured as seeing in such a government an effort by the British of Jerusalem to carve out a base of power for himself in Palestine.

President Will Deliver 'Mean, Tough' Talk in West

Aboard Truman Campaign Train, Sept. 20 (AP)—President Truman moved into Colorado today for what one of his top level advisors said was a "mean and tough" speech at Denver on conservation.

This associate, who asked that his name not be used, said Mr. Truman would use some of the sharpest language of his campaign in criticism of what he will call Republican obstruction of public power, reclamation and irrigation projects.

His Denver speech—the second major address of his current 9,500-mile western bid to stay in the White House—was set for 2 p. m. (E.S.T.) from the grounds of the Capitol.

It was to be among at least seven talks during a day almost as strenuous as his 14-speech campaign Saturday from Rock

Phoenicia Guide Suffers Shock, Exposure; Is Hospitalized After His Rescue Attempt

Fishermen Help

Kingston Trio Assist in Bringing Victim Ashore

Three metropolitan business men on a sporting club outing lost their lives in the lower basin of the Ashokan reservoir during the brief storm and high winds which upset their fishing boat late Saturday afternoon.

They were:

Robert D. Burns, 51, 4 Midland Gardens, Yonkers traffic manager of Refined Syrups and Sugars, Inc.

E. Lionel Parrott, 33 Crawford Road, Harrison, N. Y., executive vice-president of E. F. Drew & Company, 15 East 26th street, New York.

David T. Lamond, 68, of 27 Colonial Court, New Brighton, S. I., treasurer of Lee & Simmons Corporation, lightering and tow-boat company, 44 Whitehall street, New York. He died on shore and the other two were drowned.

The men were in a semi-round-bottom boat with Ray Smith, sportsman's guide of Phoenicia who tried desperately to save their lives. He was treated at the Kingston Hospital for shock and exposure.

Smith, according to State Trooper Ray Dunn of Phoenicia, said that Burns was the first to fall from the boat as the high winds threatened trouble.

Smith said Burns stood up in the boat and walked toward its rear. The boat shipped water at the time, he reported, and it was being lashed by high waves as it overturned.

Burns fell from sight as the boat went over, the guide said, and he then attempted to help the other two men to hold on to the overturned craft.

Anchor Was Caught
Meanwhile, the boat's anchor was stuck and Smith dove into the water several times in attempts to release the anchor so that the boat would drift to the shore of an island in the reservoir which is about a mile from the gate house of the headworks.

During Smith's attempt to release the anchor Parrott was apparently washed off the bottom of the boat by a heavy wave and disappeared into the water.

Smith managed to hold to the boat himself with Lamond and soon after the boat finally released from the ensnared anchor and started drifting toward shore. Smith said he saw the bodies of the other two had been washed into shore.

Lamond died after he had reached shore, Smith and the authorities reported.

Sheriff George C. Smith, who with County Investigator Clayton Vredenburg and County Identification Officer Leonard Belmont, went to the scene, reported that Michael Allen at the headworks of the reservoir headworks at about 6:40 p. m.

Trowbridge went "down to the water with field glasses," the report said, and there he met Edward Warion, 125 Grand street, Robert Mericle, 36 Foxhall avenue, and Harry Rose, 204 Pearl street.

Say Boat Disappeared
The three men had gone to the gate house and talked with Allen the report said. They reported that they had "just landed from fishing and that there was a boat with four men behind theirs," and "when they looked around the boat had disappeared."

Trowbridge looked out into the water with the field glasses and "saw two men, one of them Ray"

Big Rally Held Saturday at DeWitt Lake Is Attended by More Than 500

More than 500 men, women and children, attending the Republican picnic at DeWitt Lake Grove, Saturday afternoon, heard prominent speakers refer to the November election as one of the most important in the history of the United States.

With Democracy threatened, the next administration in Washington must be one of union, cooperation and leadership, they were told by Alger B. Chapman, campaign manager for Thomas E. Dewey in New York state; and other speakers called for a cessation of "one wrong decision after another in national government and a foreign policy that will keep the U. S. in its important position among world powers."

The event, sponsored and promoted by the Ulster County Women's Republican Club, also boomed the candidacy of local G.O.P. candidates, and served as a fine outing under the pine trees of DeWitt Grove until the afternoon's high windstorm and rain broke up the proceedings in the midst of an excellent vaudeville show that followed the speeches.

Prior to the program there was a concert by the Kingston Community Concert Band under the direction of Al Rossi.

4,889 Register With Draft Boards

Figures Show City Has 1,822 Enrolled; Those Who Helped Thanked

A total of 4,889 young men between the ages of 18 and 25 have registered with the two draft boards in this county during the registration period, which ended Saturday, it was announced today.

Of this number, 1,822 registered with the city draft board, including 38 who registered Saturday. The Ulster county board, which has jurisdiction over the county outside Kingston, registered a total of 3,067, including 76 on Friday and 82 on Saturday.

With registration now complete except for those persons who reach their 18th birthday and who must register within five days of their birth date, Dr. Joseph H. Rosenberg, chairman of the Kingston board, today expressed his and the board's gratitude to those persons who served without remuneration as registrars.

The fact that the task of registering almost 2,000 persons in this city was carried on smoothly and without undue inconvenience to the registrants is due "in no small measure to these patriotic citizens and to the organizations that cooperated in asking their members to volunteer for this service," Dr. Rosenberg said.

Local persons who served in the capacity of registrars during the three-week registration period were listed by Dr. Rosenberg:

The Mesdames George D. Logan, Arthur Ballard, Ruth Barnovitz, Kathryn DeVau, Richard Connelly, Florence Duffy, Mildred Folwell, Evelyn Griffin, Marie Gilpatrick, Bernice Halpern, Frank Hopper, Ruth Kleine, Julia Kane, Robert Liscom, Sophia Lipkin, Adele Longendyke, Doris Mehan, Helen Millens, Thomas O'Rourke, Lorraine Goldfarb, F. D. Plotke, Viola Schwartzberg, Lena Roche, June VanDerzee, Jeanette Washington.

Also the Misses Laura Albrecht, Arlene Riber, Rhoda Riber, Helma Rosenberg, Dorothy Tancredi and Mildred Sgroi and Raymond Lown and Walter Murdoch.

In Albany, Brig. Gen. Ames T. Brown, state director of Selective Service, also expressed his appreciation for the assistance of the volunteer registrars and the many organizations which canvassed their groups for volunteer registrars and assisted Selective Service in other ways.

BREAKFAST FOODS

Our pantry shelves present a view
That seems to reach the rainbow's hue—
A row of boxes bright and gay
Is growing larger every day.
They're sealed in double cellophane
To keep out wind—and dust—and rain;
Their presence justifies the phrase
That advertising surely pays.

By radio—it's safe to plan
On coaxing truth from Mary Ann
She's learned that breakfast pleasure lies
In crispy foods—that boast a prize.
Each time the patman knocks the door
He brings the things she's written for;
I judge by all the patience shown
He must have children of his own.

If buying stopped this very day
Supplies we have would last 'til May;
But I'm convinced the stock will grow—
Unless we sell our radio!

Five Newburghers Hurt in Accident; 4 Other Crashes

Five Newburgh residents, riding in a Poughkeepsie taxi were injured in a three-car accident near the Mario Inn, Route 9W, early Saturday night, one of the vehicles swerved off its course to avoid striking a white horse, according to the state police at Highland.

Four other, less serious accidents were reported in the area over the week-end.

The taxi in the Marlborough accident was driven by Roy Knapp of Poughkeepsie, another car was operated by Julie Miron, 58 Ferry street, this city, and the third was a tractor-trailer, owned by Red Star Express Lines, Auburn, N. Y., and driven by Warren Goodale of Herkimer.

The taxi, the report said, swerved to avoid the Miron auto which went off its course to avoid the horse as it was headed south on the route. The taxi was headed north at the time. The truck attempted to avoid the taxi, but they collided, the police said.

The injured taxi passengers were: Mrs. Caroline Bush, who suffered injuries of the right hand and foot; Mrs. Alice Shafer, cut wrist and back injury; Mrs. Mary Harris, head and neck injuries; Mrs. Catherine Perry, back injury; and Mrs. Marion Shapiro, injury of the right side.

They were taken to Newburgh for treatment by their respective doctors.

Water street, Poughkeepsie, and Donald Duncan, 18, of 94 Water street, Poughkeepsie, riding with him, were injured when Miller's car left the road as it was headed north on Route 9-W at Ulster Park and struck a pole, at midnight Saturday.

The top of the pole was sheared off, according to the state police at Highland, and several high-voltage wires were knocked down with it as it fell on the road.

Crew Makes Repairs

A truck of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp., which was on the route at the time, arrived on the scene "about a minute after the accident," the report said, and its crew began making repairs.

Traffic was slowed up in passing the scene for about an hour, the police said.

Miller suffered cuts on his chin and mouth and a chest injury and Duncan, a laceration of the lip and a bruised left knee. They were taken to Poughkeepsie for treatment by a doctor.

Donald Palminter, 30, of Highland, riding a whizzer bike, was injured in another accident at Route 299 just outside of Highland. The bicycle, headed east on the route was in collision with a car driven by Robert Sherman of Highland, who was traveling west. Palminter was taken to St. Francis Hospital, Poughkeepsie, for treatment of a fractured knee cap, and minor body injuries.

Others Escape Injury

Occupants of two other autos in collision on Route 9W two miles south of Highland near the Bluepoint road, at about 5:40 p. m. Saturday, escaped uninjured, the police said. One driven by Benjamin Fiscella of New York was headed south on the route, and the other, operated by Theodore Holzman, of Jersey City, was traveling in the same direction when they collided.

The Sheriff's office reported another slight accident at 5:45 p. m. Saturday on the road between High Falls and Rosendale near the latter place.

One car was driven by Wolfgang H. Engles, Stanford, Conn., and the other by Gordon F. Anderson of Accord. The latter said he was headed toward Rosendale near the railroad overpass when the other vehicle skidded and the two sideswiped.

SCIENCE NOT FITTED

Science offers "the best hope of mankind's becoming one world in purpose and objectives," says the centennial program of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

It offers the following reasons to bolster an understandably biased opinion: "Science is universal. It recognizes no national boundaries, is limited by no racial prejudices, follows no dogma or party line. Whether a discovery in science is made by an Englishman, a Russian or a Japanese is not important. All that matters is the soundness of the work itself. When a scientific paper is published no one asks if it were written by a Negro, a Roman Catholic, a Jew or a Seventh Day Adventist. The paper is judged by what it is, not by who did the research which it reports."

The trouble with that reasoning is that the AAAS spokesman is writing about the world of science, not the world in which scientists must live. When he neglects to limit his observations to the world of science he invites the suspicion that he is paying no attention to what is going on outside his laboratory. The fact that he is writing in an AAAS publication, and apparently with the association's approval, does little to recommend scientists as the instruments of world unity.

Who can remember Hitler's nazification of German science and still say that no one asks the race or religion of the scientist? Who can read of today's sovietized science in Russia and say that science follows no party line?

The scientists seem to forget that they do not market their own product. Their discoveries pass into the hands of government or private commerce. The scientists and those who develop and exploit these discoveries are bound by the laws and policies of the government under which they live. Thus applied science can be intensely nationalistic.

But pure science is not hampered by bigotry and prejudice. Then, one might ask, why not let the scientists run the world's governments in this scientific age?

The flaw in that idea is that science has no morals, either. It is an impersonal, emotionless pursuit.

Pure science has never balked at its function of uncovering and utilizing the mysteries of nature. And even if its practitioners were empowered to apply science to everyday life as heads of government, there is no assurance that their professional lack of morality or their unprofessional human emotions would permit them to do better than the laymen are doing today.

If there is ever to be world unity, it still seems that the only force that can achieve it is the force of individual morality and humanity exerted through world governments. We doubt that the American Association for the Advancement of Science can produce such a force. What is probably needed is an International Society for the Elimination of Human Cussedness.

OUR GREATEST WRITERS

What ten living American authors will be esteemed in the year 2000? This question, now asked by the book-collectors' magazine, The New Colophon, was asked by its predecessor, The Colophon, in 1936. At that time Sinclair Lewis received more votes from the magazine's readers than any other writer. Then followed Willa Cather, Eugene O'Neill, Edna St. Vincent Millay, Robert Frost, Theodore Dreiser, James Truslow Adams, George Santayana, Stephen Vincent Benet and James Branch Cabell.

Of these Willa Cather, Dreiser and Benet are now dead. J. Donald Adams, writing in the New York Times Book Review, notes that some of the other choices now seem a little queer. James Truslow Adams and Cabell for example. Most of the others seem to have passed their writing prime. They may write more books, but it is suggested that these are not likely to be up to the standard of what they have already written. Looking over the 1936 list, Adams thinks

'These Days'

By George E. Sokolsky

Elbert Hubbard, who was in his day regarded as a sage among the Philistines—which was his own term for ordinary, go-getting, hard-working, money-making Americans—once wrote a piece on Oliver Goldsmith, who, while never a candidate for public office, somehow managed to live in the memory of man for nearly 175 years without the services of a press agent.

Goldsmith was an Irishman gifted with verbal facility. You may recall that he wrote that lovely poem:

"Sweet Auburn! loveliest village of the plain,
 Where health and plenty cheered the laboring swain,
 Where smiling Spring the earliest visits paid,
 And parting Summer's lingering blooms delayed...."

Well, when he came to London to look for a job, he hit upon a publisher of the "Monthly Review," a Mr. Griffiths, whose wife edited the paper with that hard-boiled attitude that lady-editors find so natural. In my own experience, when I did free-lance writing—as begging for crumbs is called in my profession—I only knew of two lady-editors who gave such a scribbler as I was then—to say nothing of now—a chance. They were Clara Luce and Mrs. William Brown McKinley.

So Goldsmith worked for Mrs. Griffiths who permitted him to write brilliant articles to which she signed the names of great men. Hubbard says of this:

"Mrs. Griffiths looked after him closely, spurring him on when he lagged, correcting his copy, striking out such portions as showed too much genius and inserting a word here and there in order to make a purely neutral dejection, which it seems is what magazine readers have always desired."

Then Hubbard comments:
 "Occasionally these articles were duly fathered by great men, as this gave them the required specific gravity. It is said that even in our day there are editors who employ convict labor in this way. But I'm sure that this is not so, for we live in an age of competition, and it is just as cheap to hire the great men to supply trade direct as it is to employ foreign paupers to turn it out with the extra expense of elderly women to revise."

Now, there Hubbard was wrong. Many important articles that appeared in print—and even books—were never written by the person whose name is signed to them. Nor did he dictate the material nor did he do the research. This habit of having competent men do the thinking for incompetent men with great reputations has become so usual that ghost-writing has grown into a profession of large dimensions and the business of public relations, once called press-agenting, has almost reached the respectability of a science. In fact, no government agency, no great business, no association for the public welfare is without such a person who knows beyond doubt what the public wants and how to dish it out.

In the current campaign for the presidency, the ghost writers are men of importance because they are thinking for the man who will be President. Obviously, no one human being can prepare all the speeches that Messrs. Truman, Dewey and Wallace will deliver during the next month and a half. No man could do that even if he, like Henry Wallace, has nothing else to do. He therefore takes on "assistants."

The question is: Does he lay down the original line; does he turn into his own words what the "assistants" prepare or does he accept the document and read it with the profundity that the occasion requires—as though he had seen it before?

I do not like Mr. Truman's ghost and I recommend that he hire a new one. His is a weeping, wailing, moaning ghost who is trying to scare the country. Someone called the output "The Era of Fear Speeches," but it is worse than that, because the fellow is vulgar. They tell me that Sam Rosenman, Mr. Roosevelt's ghost, is back on the job, but the Truman speeches do not sound like Rosenman who has a gift for the happy phrase if not the consistent thought. It must be another ghost, say your words.

SEVEN OUT OF TEN CURED

Most of us understand what is meant by physical health. It not only means freedom from pain, weakness or sickness, but also the enjoyment of life—our food, sleep, work or play.

What is meant by mental health?
 Mental health means meeting our problems of life fairly and squarely, admitting our mistakes but standing by our principles for those things that experience has taught us.

What is mental illness?
 In a special supplement, "Mental Health," in "Canada's Health and Welfare," published by the Department of Health and Welfare, this question is answered.

"Mental illness with its many types and gradations is not something that can be pin-pointed like diphtheria or a broken leg. In fact, the behavior of the mentally ill is only an exaggeration of normal mental processes which the rest of us have only in degree, not in kind. Many require care in an institution—addicts and those with organic disease. But the vast majority, victims of a series of emotional upsets and quite likely faulty childhood training, need only understanding and competent treatment. In addition, there are mental defectives, below average intelligence, many of whom with training can become self-supporting."

The average or ordinary everyday life who are not adjusted to their surroundings and use various methods of excusing or making up for this failure to adjust themselves. They are worriers, hysterics, hypochondriacs (those who enjoy poor health).

Alcohol and drug addicts, who have become addicts as a defense against a feeling of failure, stand at the edge of being cured; but those whose only aim is the pursuit of immediate pleasure are a much more difficult group to treat.

The schizophrenics are those who live in a dream state, and the paranoids exaggerate the natural tendency to put the blame on the other fellow, feel persecuted and self-important. Treatment of these behavior cases—schizophrenics, paranoids, hysterics, addicts—is so effective that "7 out of 10 return to the community."

Neurosis—believing you have a physical ailment when none exists—is becoming increasingly common. Send today for Dr. Barton's informative booklet on this subject entitled "Neurosis." "Hey, Somebody's Dragging Their Feet!"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

Washington — Governor Dewey has dropped the hint to one or two Republican Senators that he would like to engineer some boosts in government salary after he comes to Washington next January.

Talking to Senator Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, chairman of the powerful Senate Appropriations Committee, Dewey said he wanted to bring Paul Lockwood, his astute confidential adviser, and several others of his brain trust to help him in the White House.

"But," said the Governor, "they can't afford it on present government salaries."

Therefore he asked Bridges to put through some legislation increasing government pay scales.

"Well, if it's for Earl Warren, or any of the men around you," replied the New Hampshire Senator, who has a New England conscience when it comes to money, "I'm sure we can do it."

"But, if you're talking about bureaucrats personally," he continued, "Hell, no! I'm dead opposed to it. We've got to show that we're not going to load up the government with expensive bureaucrats. Taber will feel the same way. A few key executives may deserve increases, but otherwise absolutely no."

Dewey let the matter drop. However, the conversation indicates that the new Republican President—if elected—isn't going to have altogether plain sailing with his congress.

Note—Congress is sure to vote the Vice President a salary increase and give him a house. Probably the Colonial mansion once owned by Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson. Gov. Warren was promised this before he accepted the Vice-Presidential nomination.

Michigan's stock, gaudy Congressman Clare Hoffman conserved himself a great protector of the public purse. However, he isn't so belligerent on that score when it comes to putting his own relatives on the public payroll.

Hoffman is the only member of Congress with no pockets in his pants. He gets his clothes made to order with no pockets, but doesn't seem to mind letting salary money get into the pockets of his relatives.

His son, Carl E. Hoffman, is paid $5,000 a year as counsel for the Expenditures Committee. A granddaughter, Sarah, Ann Hoffman, gets $3,200, the top salary of the congressman's secretarial staff.

Incidentally, both have been spending a good part of their time at Hoffman's Allegan, Mich., headquarters assisting in his re-election campaign.

Little State Has Big Feud
 Out-of-state Republicans are so anxious to steal Rhode Island away from the Democrats this year that they have stepped right into the middle of a local scrap and split the G.O.P. worse than ever.

Its primary battle on the surface is over the G.O.P. nomination for U. S. Senator Arthur A. Humphrey. It goes deep into the roots of race and religious feeling and has aroused bitterness which may take years to heal.

The state G.O.P. machine has been bucking Thomas Pierpont, favored by the Republican nomination against Republican Walter Sundin and Louis Jackson, the first Jewish, the second Italian.

G.O.P. state bosses are convinced that only a hard-headed Yankee can beat Democratic Senator Theodore Green in the showdown race against the G.O.P. leaders made the mistake of jumping in on the side of the machine. To this end, Winthrop Aldrich, head of the Chase National Bank, and former Connecticut Senator John Danaher, director of Republican senatorial campaigns, tried to slip into Providence and raise money for the Humphrey-Hazard, against the Jewish and Italian candidates.

A hush-hush meeting was arranged at the swanky Hope Club by Richmond Viall, manager of Brown and Sharpe Manufacturing Co. News of the meeting leaked, and caught in the glare of the public spotlight, Aldrich and Danaher hit the ceiling. Carefully screening everyone at the door, they finally went ahead with their meeting, but despite the secrecy, here is what happened:

Nutmegs Don't Yield Dollars
 Viall tried to squeeze $50,000 from wealthy Republicans present, but only got pledges for $9,200. Aldrich, though helping to call the meeting, protested that he wouldn't contribute to the primaries, though he made it clear that the local Republicans would get all the Wall Street money they needed—if Hazard got the nomination.

When candidate Sundin, who is opposing Hazard, heard that his party was trying to raise funds, he called Viall and offered to contribute. But he warned that if the money was to be used in the primary, he wouldn't give a cent.

"We cannot accept your money," was the blunt reply.

Meanwhile, the Republican machine has brought in outside help to raise money and handle publicity for its endorsed candidates—Ketchum, Inc., of New York City, a professional soliciting agency. Its commission is 4 per cent of the take. Mrs. Eleanor Johnson of upstate Massachusetts, a professional organizer, was also hired at $24 per week, and Jack O'Keefe, a New York press agent, was put on the payroll in Rhode Island at $150 per week.

Note—Others who attended the secret Hope Club meeting included Henry Sharpe, board president of Brown and Sharpe Manufacturing Co.; Robert Dresser, former executive vice president of the National Association of Manufacturers; Steven Wilson, president of Framm Corporation; Malcolm Chase Jr., local banker whose father is a director of the Chase National Bank; Baynard Ewing, wealthy attorney; Henry Fletcher, former Chairman of the Republican National Committee; H. Livingston Kelly Jr., treasurer for the Hazard campaign committee; and Thomas Casey Greene, Republican state chairman. (Copyright, 1948, The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Murray Put Secretary Royall in Uncomfortable Spot as Regards 'Closed Shop' for Longshoremen

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Sept. 20—Philip Murray, head of the C.I.O., has successfully "put the heat" on the secretary of the army, Kenneth Royall, and caused him to violate the spirit, if not the letter, of the Taft-Hartley Act.

Mr. Murray wanted the army to recognize the "closed shop" in the hiring of longshoremen on the west coast. Inasmuch as the C.I.O. leader is openly working for the re-election of President Truman, this certainly put Secretary Royall in a hot spot.

But the hiring of longshoremen through hiring halls which discriminate against non-union men has been declared illegal by the National Labor Relations Board under the Taft-Hartley Act. Mr. Murray nevertheless asked the secretary of the army either to hire workers directly through such halls or else to make a contract with some company that may be choosing to disregard the legal limitations on "hiring halls."

It is true that the army ships used to follow the practice of hiring through the "closed shop" halls, but this was before the "closed shop" had been declared illegal. Yet Mr. Murray brazenly asked the secretary of the army to resume its previous "unethical" practice.

Mr. Royall has to load goods for the Far East, and the strike on our west coast reached the point where orders were recently issued to recruit longshoremen directly.

Reports received here indicate that the union deliberately interfered with the army's efforts to get dock workers and actually urged the men to refrain from meeting the army's needs. This may be an interference with the laws of the United States governing recruitment of personnel and, as such, ought to have the attention of the Department of Justice.

The latest suggestion virtually means that the army must look its eyes to the situation and confessed it has been beaten by the long-shoremen's tactics and that a contract be made with a private company which has already come to terms with the union in a manner that circumvents the spirit of the law.

The C.I.O. union in question is headed by Harry Bridges, who has successfully battled in the courts the government's efforts to report him on the ground that he was a Communist. The officers of the union have refused to sign the anti-Communist affidavits which are required by federal law of any union which wishes to use the National Labor Relations Board machinery. The employees are refusing to deal with the union unless it complies with the law. The contractors who have broken away from the employer group are now being suggested as the ones with whom the army should deal.

It is a far cry from the days of the Wagner Act when, during wartime, the C.O., in behalf of the auto workers' union, sought to eliminate from army bidding the Ford Motor Car Company and any companies accused in proceedings before the labor board.

In this instance, there is no question about the fact that hiring halls are "closed shops" and that Congress has made it unlawful for any union, by a strike or otherwise, to coerce an employer into a "closed shop" agreement.

For the secretary of the army to ignore this plain provision of the law and deal with a union which has insisted that its "hiring halls" be maintained, is to flout the statute.

It is surprising indeed that the army has surrendered to the longshoremen's union by granting the demands of the C.I.O. chiefs. Certainly it adds proof to Senator Taft's recent charge that President Truman is permitting open defiance of the Taft-Hartley Act, which is sworn by the Constitution to uphold as long as it is the law of the land, even though he may, of course, properly agitate for its repeal.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Sept. 19—The meanderings of Bubblehead Wallace in the southern tier of states have actually served the good purpose, deplorable as it may be to Henry, of proving by contrast that these southern commonwealths are more polite and obedient to law than those others which criticized them.

The campaign of disparagement of these states has been growing in volume for fifteen years and is the work of two agencies, the Association for the Advancement of the Colored People, and a few over-privileged elegants, and the Communist party. Both of these have contrived to make use of outlets which were less likely to be suspected of special motives.

The Advancement outfit made a connection with the ever-susceptible New York Herald Tribune whereby its president, once Walter White, a Negro so pallid as to walk in peril in Harlem after midnight, should publish its propaganda in the Sunday section in the guise of impartial observations.

The H-T, its ethics gone numb, ran White's early pieces with no line to identify him as press-agent for a tenuous cause. It was a snide detection of a piece with the publication of essays against the American Legion by Charles G. Bolte, the founding father of the American Veterans' Committee, with no line to warn the reader that this too was pleading by an interested party. On being exposed, the H-T quietly complied with the rule of good faith in journalism. And in due course, the A.V.C.'s Communists debauched this wet-eyed society of campus ideologues indicating the suspicions of all honest observers.

Bolte, with a leg off, was the Long John Silver and the front for a collection of long-dogging Lieutenants of procurement, accountancy and propaganda.

Henry Wallace made himself as offensive as he could to the white population of the South and to most of those Negroes who prefer

Barn Fire Also Causes Damage To Phoenicia Church, House

Steinman to Alter Brooklyn Bridge

New York, Sept. 20 (AP)—David B. Steinman has been close to the Brooklyn bridge ever since he grew up as a poor boy in its shadow.

Now he has a year assignment from the city to modernize the famous suspension bridge, completed in 1883. His consulting engineer office has designed 200 bridges on five continents.

He said today:

"Although we plan to convert the present two-lane roadway of Brooklyn bridge into a six-lane modern concrete highway, the appearance of the bridge will not be changed. To me, Brooklyn bridge is sacred."

Phoenicia, Sept. 20 — State Trooper Ray Dunn said today that an investigation is under way to determine the cause of a fire which destroyed a large barn, formerly known as the McGrath livery, and damaged the St. Francis De Sales Church and a two-story frame house early this morning.

The fire, discovered at about 12:10 a. m., levelled the barn on the property, which is now owned by Samuel Davis, operator of the Phoenicia movie theatre, who is planning to erect a new theatre on part of the land.

Flames scorched the roof and one side of the stone church and caused some damage to the outside storm windows of the structure. State said the roof which had become extremely hot, cracked as firemen played a stream on the structure, and the flames caused considerable damage to a nearby two-story, six room house which is unoccupied.

Trooper Dunn said he has obtained enough information and evidence to indicate that the fire was of suspicious origin.

The barn had not been in use for some time, the officer said. The Woodstock fire department was called to assist the Phoenicia firemen, but the blaze had gained too much headway for the work of either to be effective.

The fire was the second damaging blaze in the village within a month. Several structures in the rear of the Gormley hotel were destroyed in an early-morning fire last month. Phoenicia firemen were also called twice recently to fires at Olivera.

73 Persons Saved From Freighter in Hurricane Waters

Miami, Fla., Sept. 20 (AP)—The master of the stricken British freighter Lochmonar reported today the 73 persons aboard were believed safe as a hurricane with winds of over 100 miles an hour moved away from the ship and closer to the Cuban coast.

South Florida from Miami through the keys was placed in the "danger zone" of the storm which yesterday trapped the Lochmonar, a 9,000 ton vessel. The Weather Bureau warned south Floridians to standby for possible hurricane warnings by nightfall.

The coast guard received a message from the Lochmonar stating: "Consider passengers and crew safe on board until weather calms. Do not think ship will break up. Vessel settled more and pounding eased. Holes in five fuel tanks. Three holds taking water slowly. Auxiliaries working. Sky clearing and wind easing slightly. Tug crew standing by."

An earlier wireless from the master of the ship to the Associated Press in New York said the vessel was standing up surprisingly well and that it was on an even keel. Except for anxiety and some discomfort, he reported, the passengers and crew are well and carrying on a normal ship's life.

"We have six British passengers and a crew of 67," the skipper said. "The main cargo is dried fruit, flour, eggs and meat."

The coast guard said it was probable that the vessel had been wrecked by the pounding and would have to be abandoned.

The Lochmonar is hard aground on Little Caymen Island south of Cuba.

make this one of the tensest moments since the truce began last July 18.

In Cairo Saturday, Abdel Rahman Azzam Pasha, Secretary-general of the seven-national Arab League, announced that every possible material aid, including an army of volunteers, would be placed at the disposal of the new government.

Akudlan, in a message to the league today, called attention to the fact that Hilmy Pasha advised him the league had approved creation of the new government.

"Trans-Jordan's delegate has denied this," the King said. "In any case formation of such a government, in our opinion, would turn back Palestine to the disturbed situation prevailing before May 15 (the date of Britain's surrender of the mandate and the United Nations institution of partition)."

As the Arab Legion is now fighting alone in Jerusalem, where hostilities are still in force in spite of the truce, and as this central front, including Ramallah, is under the authority of the Arab Legion and the situation is still confused, we cannot allow any other hands to interfere in the responsibility of our military government, especially those who are anxious to rule Palestine."

He said if the new government actually comes into being and wins United Nations recognition, this, coupled with recognition by some of the major powers of the Jewish claims, would constitute partition.

(His idea is that all Palestine should be united under Arab rule).

Hamburg Boy, 11, Leaves Home; Had Passion for Horse

Hamburg, N. Y., Sept. 20 (AP)—An 11-year-old boy, who ran away from home because he couldn't have a horse, pedaled home this morning after police in 14 states were asked to look for him.

Charles Orva Fowler, 3rd, told of riding off yesterday on his sister's bicycle and camping overnight in one of the worst electrical storms to hit this vicinity. He said he slept in a sleeping bag in a wooded grove about five miles from here.

The sixth grade student left this unsigned note to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles O. Fowler, Jr.:

Dear Mom and Dad—I am going away. If I stayed around any longer I would never get the horse I want. You could have got the horse and kept it for a while and then see if I don't work and see how I would take care of it. I am going somewhere. I might get a horse and maybe not."

The father said he had been unable to make the boy understand that the family did not have the facilities to care for a horse.

The boy's mother said Charles had asked several times recently the distance and directions to California.

EAT WELL for Less

By GAYNOR MADDON
SEA Staff Writer

Those daily sandwiches that go off to school with your children have an important job to do. They must nourish and they must also satisfy. If you seem unable to think up any new variations, glance through a helpful book called "The Lunch Box and Every Kind of Sandwich." Your local library may have it.

Cottage Cheese Standby

One cup cottage cheese, 2 tablespoons cream or sour cream, 1/4 teaspoon onion juice, 1/4 teaspoon salt. Mix the cheese and cream until the right consistency for spreading. Add the salt, onion juice and chopped olives. Spread between thin slices of buttered rye or Boston brown bread. This makes filling for four or more sandwiches. One-fourth cup chopped nuts, or the same amount of minced pickles or minced watercress may be used instead of the olives.

Chicken and Bacon

Combine finely chopped cooked chicken with chopped, crisply cooked bacon. Moisten with mayonnaise.

Chicken and Carrots

Combine chopped cooked chicken with grated carrots and celery. Season. Mix with sour cream for spreading.

Eggs and Bacon

Four hard-boiled eggs, 1-3 cup chopped cooked bacon, Worcestershire sauce, salad dressing. Chop the eggs, mix with the bacon, and add a few drops of Worcestershire. Add just enough salad dressing or sour cream to moisten. This makes filling for four or more sandwiches.

Fish Salad Filling

Combine canned salmon or tuna, or leftover cooked fish, flaked and mixed with about one-third as much chopped celery, finely chopped cabbage and chopped ripe olives. Mix all together and moisten with salad dressing to spread smoothly.

Tongue and Cabbage

Combine equal amounts of chopped boiled beef tongue and finely chopped cabbage. Mix in a little chopped pickle and salad dressing, or use Russian dressing.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Stewed dried fruit, ready-to-eat cereal, poached eggs on toast, rolls, butter or fortified margarine, coffee, milk.

LUNCH BOX: Chicken and bacon sandwich, lettuce and tomato sandwich, celery and olives, gingerbread, apple, milk, chocolate milk, tea.

DINNER: Frankfurters with cheese sauce, mashed potatoes, quick-cooked cabbage, rye bread, butter or fortified margarine, sliced tomatoes, fresh fruit gelatin, coffee, milk.

16 Weeks for 'Met'

New York, Sept. 20 (AP)—Sixteen weeks of performances, starting the night of November 29, will make up the 1948-49 season of the Metropolitan Opera. The reduced season, two weeks less than last year, was announced last night by General Manager Edward Johnson.

New Controlled Credit Plan Is Now in Effect

Credit Bureau Declares Act Is Not Nearly as Strict as Most People Suppose

This morning at 12:01 the country went under a controlled credit plan and according to Delno R. Ellis, manager of Credit Bureau of Kingston, this new control may not even be noticed by many credit buyers. Information received from the Associated Credit Bureaus of America, the trade association in St. Louis which gives Credit Bureau of Kingston international coverage, indicates that the act isn't nearly so strict as most people suppose.

First of all, it doesn't even touch the ordinary 30-day charge account. Your favorite credit firm will still be able to give you the option of paying on the tenth instead of writing a check before you leave the counter.

Uncle Sam isn't worried about your small purchases, either, for the new regulation doesn't affect items that retail for less than $50. Only 12 kinds of consumers' durable goods are specifically named in the regulation.

Those of us who are on the preferred list for a new car may have to dig into our savings more deeply than we had planned, for automobiles will require a 33 1/3 per cent down payment, beginning today. If the balance due on your car doesn't exceed $1000, it must be paid off in 15 months.

If the balance is over $1000, you can take 18 months to call it yours—but your payments must not be less than $70 per month. Incidentally, these maturity provisions apply to all loans and merchandise.

Besides automobiles, the following articles are listed in the regulation: Cooking stoves, dishwashers, ironers, refrigerators, washing machines, combination units of these items, air conditioners (room unit), radio television and phonograph sets, sewing machines, suction cleaners, and furniture and soft-surface floor coverings. All of these are subject to a 20 per cent down payment.

"Actually," Mr. Ellis says, "the new regulation is designed to require customers to do just what we've been preaching they should do for years—Pay your accounts as agreed, but only what you can afford, and don't be fooled into thinking that the easy charge it increases your ability to pay. Credit is no substitute for income."

Mr. Ellis pointed out that the new regulation will not affect the need for complete credit information in the community, or the necessity for keeping personal credit records good. The fact that in advance by frantic incitations to assault or even homicide composed by illiterates on the foundation of motivated gossip against her late husband, and published in daily papers. No modern southern paper would consider printing such brutal counsel. Mr. Ringstad was said to have been a Norwegian Nazi. The A.V.C. of the Herald Tribune's preference, was one of the vigilante outfits that picketed her show.

In the New York District which sends Vito Marcantonio to Congress to follow the party line, an electioneer named Scottorriggio was kicked to death in daylight for all around to see, because he was opposing Marcantonio. This was a lynching as brutal and unmistakable as any in southern history. Marcantonio, of course, and he an old office protegee and political disciple of LaGuardia, was the political beneficiary of the murder done in a district where he usually knows all.

In New York it was that the Furriers' Union, run by the Communists, for years terrorized both the furriers and the employers by the consent of Democratic city administrations. The Ku Klux Klan never was more brutal or stronger in the modern south. In New York, the council of the C.I.O. openly announced the compulsory draft of all its members at the instant order of Communist bosses for picket duty, which means riot and insurrection. No such private army ever before had been in southern history. It is greater than the National Guard or any southern state and incomparably stronger than any force that the Klan ever put into the field. The order of conscription was such familiar defiance of law in New York that the local papers buried it and the mayor didn't even comment.

The most dramatic mob pictures in the newspaper files are a series of three shots of a rioter killing a citizen with a ball-bat in Minneapolis. The rioters were proteges of Floyd Olson, the governor, a Roosevelt New Dealer. The first picture shows the goon with the bat taking his swing. The second shows the impact, the third is the follow-through as the citizen falls dead before thousand witnesses, including police, and the goon follows through.

No arrests. This is particularly pertinent in view of the fact that it was the mayor of Minneapolis who insisted on the adoption of a drastic anti-lynching program in the Democratic National Convention this year. As a closing point, St. Paul was so lawless that even so highly immunized a New Dealer as Homer Cummings, when he was attorney-general, refused to let the F.B.I. trade information with the St. Paul cops, remarking that something was rotten there. (Copyright, 1948, King Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

customers will be required to meet certain definite requirements when purchasing some merchandise will make it doubly important for firms to get credit reports when they buy those items which are not on the "protected" list. Mr. Ellis expects the unprecedented local demand for credit reports to continue.

Mr. Ellis finally suggested that while the government can enact many kinds of credit legislation, true credit control and protection against inflation actually lies with the customer. His intelligent buying is our greatest bulwark against inflation.

Job Training Certificates Important to Ex-G.I.'s

Albany, Sept. 18—Assistant Industrial Commissioner Frank T. Pipito announced today that any veterans of World War 2 who have successfully completed an approved on-the-job training program in New York state and have not yet received the state certificate of completion, should notify him at once, giving the name of his employer-trainer and the course of training completed. Commissioner Pipito stated that to date some 500 ex-G.I.'s have received certificates in the 13 northeastern counties comprising the Albany District of the New York State Department of Labor of which Commissioner Pipito is chief executive. The Commissioner points out that the certificates are valuable documents and will become more valuable to the holder as time passes. They compare with the apprenticeship certificates of the State Apprenticeship Council and a college diploma. These certificates are issued free by the New York State Department of Labor and cover more than 300 different occupations.

Eligible veterans residing in the northeastern counties of the state should address requests for certificates to Commissioner Pipito at the State Office Building, Albany 1, N. Y. Those residing in other districts should address their local assistant industrial commissioners.

Subway Grills Topple Royals Twice in City Softball Playoffs

Bigler and Hunt Score Wins Before 300 at Block Park

Subway Grill is within a game of the 1948 city softball title as the result of a surprise double win over Royal Grills in the opening games of the softball Little World Series before 300 fans Sunday at Block Park.

Both victories were squeakers—4-3 and 5-4—and the Subways need only one game of next Sunday's scheduled doubleheader to wrap up the title.

Subway pitching dominated both contests although the winners tried to make it very difficult for their hurlers by committing five errors in each game.

Wall Bigler won the decision over Joe Enright in the opener in which all the scoring was jammed into the second inning. Royals scored three and Subways retaliated with four in their half. Tommy Maines and Eddie Ashdown of the Royals had two hits apiece. Maines and John Schatzel rapping doubles. The winners made eight hits off Enright while Bigler yielded five.

Hunt Wins Second
Al Hunt outlasted Don Weeks in the nightcap after the Subways had built up a 5-0 margin in the first three innings, scoring thrice in the second. The Royals picked up three runs in the fourth and their final marker in the fifth.

Tommy Maines' circuit clout sparked an 11-hit attack by Subways. Johnny Schatzel poked a double and two singles. Don Weeks, losing pitcher, collected two hits.

The leading gem of the day was credited to "Boss" Tomaseskie of Royal Grills who made a spectacular shoestring catch of a line drive by Al Hunt. Two men were on base when Tomaseskie made the catch.

The series shifts to Hasbrouck Park next Sunday where the Royals are faced with the rugged assignment of sweeping both halves of the twinbill in order to avoid elimination.

Grid 'Breathers' Appear Passe In Modern Grid

New York, Sept. 20 (AP)—Almost everybody gets into the act this week in the toughest set of September football games in history.

The traditional early season "breather" definitely is a thing of the past when the first full week-end of action offers such attractions as Navy-California, Purdue-Notre Dame and Texas-North Carolina.

And there are many more.

Army is apt to have its hands full at West Point against Villanova. Texas Christian and Oklahoma A. & M., both winners already this year, tangle at Stillwater, Okla. Northwestern visits U.C.L.A. and Minnesota will journey to Washington to further the Big Nine-Pacific Coast rivalry while Indiana and Wisconsin get the Big Nine underway at Madison.

Villanova Powerful

Michigan, the Rose Bowl champion, faces a traditional rival neighbor at Michigan State.

Calif. actually opened piece-meal fashion, last week-end. Villanova showed surprising power in stopping Texas A. and M., 34-14 at Philadelphia. Two other

Texas teams had better luck. The University of Texas Longhorns smothered Louisiana State, 33-0, and Texas Christian edged Kansas, 14-13, in 90 degree heat at Lawrence.

On the West Coast Southern California rebounded from its

Rose Bowl shellacking to whip Utah, 27-0; California poured it on Santa Clara, 41-19, and Oregon steamrollered Santa Barbara, 55-7.

Clippers Within

Game of Title

(By The Associated Press)

The Port Chester Clippers

came home today needing only one more victory to complete a sweep of regular season and playoff laurels in the Colonial League.

The pennant-winning Clippers hold a 3-1 edge in the final playoff series with Poughkeepsie, second ranking club during the year.

A six-run rally in the third inning gave the Clippers an 8-6 decision over Poughkeepsie last night. Five straight hits, including an inside the park home run, produced the cluster of runs.

Poughkeepsie threatened only in the fifth inning when Manager

Steve Mizerak, who is quitting at the end of the series, homered with two on base.

The Chiefs announced the sale of Outfielder Joe DeTola to the Boston Red Sox. The 22-year-old Bronx slugger led the league in runs scored, runs batted in and total hits.

If another game is needed after tonight, it will be played in Poughkeepsie.

Carbondale Is Champ

Carbondale, Pa., Sept. 20 (AP)—The Carbondale Pioneers, farmhands for the Philadelphia Phillies, held their second straight North Atlantic League championship today.

The Pioneers swept their play-off final round from Peekskill, winner of the regular season title, 4 to 0 by recording an easy 7-2 triumph yesterday.

Carbondale finished in second place during the regular season in both 1947 and 1948. Last year the Pioneers downed pennant winning Kingston to snare the league crown.

In yesterday's playoff clincher, the Pioneers' hurler, Joe Scofer, limited Peekskill to eight hits and was robbed of a shutout when Shortstop Joe Penezakin homered in the third with one man on base. Jim Watson, Carbondale catcher, hit for the circuit in the fourth with one man aboard.

Last night's score:

Carbondale 7, Peekskill 2 (Carbondale wins final playoff series 4 games to none).

Vince DiMaggio led the National League in striking out during six seasons.

PASS MASTERS

Pasquels Are Kayoed

Mexico City, Sept. 20 (AP)—The Mexican Baseball League, which lured a handful of major league players into five year suspensions and tempted dozens more with fabulous offers, has quit.

An official of the circuit, who would not permit use of his name, said last night the outlaw league gave up because of money losses and player desertions.

The officials declined comment, but the league has no further games scheduled. It was to have played until Oct. 21.

Best known of the players who jumped American contracts to play for Jorge Pasquel were Max Lanier of the St. Louis Cardinals and Mickey Owen of the Brooklyn Dodgers. Owen left before the 1946 season was over. Lanier quit after one year.

Win, lose or draw, Lou Boudreau, shortstop-manager of the Cleveland Indians, rates as the outstanding player of the major leagues.

It is largely through his efforts—at bat, in the field and on the bench—that the Indians are only half a game out of the American League lead today, with an excellent chance to win their first flag in 28 years.

Lou blasted his 15th and 16th round trippers yesterday to account for both his team's runs in Cleveland's second game 2-0 triumph over the Philadelphia Athletics. The Tribe also won the opener, 5-3.

The pair of victories, coupled with the double setback handed to the Boston Red Sox by the Detroit Tigers, 4-3 and 8-6, boosted the Indians within a half game of the pace-setting Sox.

Yankees Split
The Indians also vaulted over the New York Yankees into second place when the Bronx Bombers were held to a split in their doubleheader with the Browns in St. Louis. The hustling Brownies took the first game, 8-6; New York won the second, 9-6.

In the National League, only a complete collapse can stop the Boston Braves from winning their first flag in 34 years. The Braves defeated the Cincinnati Reds, 4-2, yesterday. They lead the Brooklyn Dodgers and St. Louis Cardinals by six games into a second place tie with the Dodgers, scoring two victories over the Giants in New York 4-3 and 3-1. The Dodgers whipped the Chicago Cubs in Brooklyn, 8-1.

Pirates Flip
Philadelphia all but eliminated the Pittsburgh Pirates, trouncing the Pirates in a twin bill, 9-6 and 5-3. Pittsburgh trails by eight games. The fifth place Giants have only two games away from being mathematically eliminated.

A paid Cleveland crowd of 75,382 saw Larry Doby slam a dramatic ninth inning home run with Joe Gordon on base to break a 3-3 tie and give the Indians their first game triumph.

Steve Gromek permitted only three hits in registering his ninth victory against three defeats in the nightcap. Dick Fowler allowed the Tribe only five hits, but two of those were those payoff circuit swats by Boudreau.

Wakefield Stars
The Red Sox went 12 innings before finally bowing to the Bengals in the opener. Stubby Overmire, fourth tier pitcher, singled home the fifth place Giants with a 6-6 double with his second home run of the day to win the second game for the Tigers. Rookie Lou Kretlow, who allowed one hit in three scoreless relief innings, singled in the clincher.

Dilling Hits Two
Al Zarilla's two-run homer in the sixth won the opener for the Browns against the Yankees. Fred Sanford, who gave way to Cliff Fagan in the seventh, was the winner. Joe DiMaggio led the Yankees to victory in the second game, polling his 37th and 38th home runs, each with a man on base.

The Washington Senators ended their 18-game winning streak, defeating the cellar-dwelling White Sox in Chicago, 10-7 and 8-6.

The Cards made it 10 out of the last 11 against the Giants, with Murry Dickson registering his 12th victory in the opener, and Harry (The Cat) Brecheen winning his 18th in the nightcap. Enos Slaughter's 11th home run with Stan Musial on base in the fifth won for Dickson. Musial's 37th four-bagger with Red Schoendienst on base won for Brecheen. The second game was limited after seven innings because of darkness.

Schaeffer Set For Main Event

Dutch Schaeffer of Floral Park, L. I., who has fast moved to the front in popularity at the Rhinebeck Speedway will headline tomorrow night's card at the Dutchess county oval in the big special 50-lap main event.

The Flying Dutchman has taken only one first at Rhinebeck but his sensational driving and daring style has endeared him to the fans.

Last week Dutch rode in third place for most of the journey and then nipped Bob Disbrow at the wire for second place behind the fast moving Larry Shurtler.

Shurtler, the West Shokan speed demon, will be back again tomorrow night. Last week's main event was the first won by the well known Ulster country ace who drives a Harry Hull Ford.

Cerdan-Zale Bout Stands by Itself

New York, Sept. 20 (AP)—A third round of contracts has been drawn by the Tournament of Champions as a result of the cancellation of the Jersey Joe Walcott-Cus Levinsky fight.

Instead of a doubleheader, the T. of C. is standing on the mid-weight championship fight between titleholder Tony Zale and Marcel Cerdan.

Originally the T. of C. planned to go with the Zale-Cerdan alone. The promoters added a Freddie Mills-Cos Levesque light heavy title bout which was wiped out because of Mills' bad back.

Jersey Joe and Gus next were signed for the same card. Levesque hurt his toe last week and the T. of C. decided to go along with its original plans.

BLACK SATIN AND GOLD!
A confused reader asks for an explanation: "Up to this year, black satin never was considered suitable for street dresses! Today, early fall dresses of this type are making their appearance and more are predicted! Even a more notable example of the acceptance of something long taboo are the gold belt worn on ordinary casual street shoes and street bags. What makes something long considered unsuitable suddenly all right?"

Fashion! Fashion is always unpredictable as to its arrival, its departure and its good taste.

Engagement Automatically Announced
Dear Mrs. Post: Would we be subjecting ourselves to criticism in this small town by having our daughter's fiancé (not generally known, however) stay with us in the house when he comes to see her as he does many times? We've been letting him stay at a local hotel but would have no objection to his staying here where he'd be more comfortable.

Answer: Certainly no criticism could be made. But I do think it would be simpler for everyone concerned to announce the engagement.

Toasts and Speeches at Dinner
Dear Mrs. Post: When should toasts be proposed at a club dinner in honor of a retiring officer? Also when should the speeches come?

Answer: Toasts usually come after the toast when glasses are freshly filled. Speeches come at the conclusion of dinner.

Trouble with the Boss
Dear Mrs. Post: My boss does not speak clearly and I have trouble hearing correctly when he dictates. Accordingly, mistakes often occur which are not my fault, but, of course, he thinks they are. Is there anything I can do? He's not the type of man to say anything to.

Answer: Rather than guess at what he says, it would be better to say, "I'm sorry, I couldn't hear that." Possibly if this happens often, he will make an effort to speak more clearly.

Woodstock News

By Peg Hard

Woodstock, Sept. 20 — Up-roarious laughter and applause was constant throughout the first annual revue "Don't Worry, Mac" given for the benefit of the Woodstock Foundation Saturday evening at the Woodstock Playhouse with a capacity audience in attendance.

The revue was directed by the well known Woodstock artist, Clarence J. McCarthy, who named the revue as a tribute to his many friends who could be found any day last week gathered in front of the Post Office listening to Mac's latest disappointment and who always came through with "Don't worry, Mac."

Only for a benefit performance could so many celebrities appear on the same program, as appeared on the Playhouse stage Saturday evening. Masters of ceremonies were the prominent cartoonists, Rube Goldberg and Ham Fisher who delighted the audience with their original imitations of the various acts to say nothing of their own imitable entertainment between the acts.

The celebrated actress Elissa Landi did a most amusing interpretation of six young women auditioning for an ingenue lead in Theatre Guild production.

When the popular Woodstock Chamber group arrived on stage, they were given a tremendous welcome, particularly by the Woodstockers in the audience with whom these artists are great favorites. In the group were Forrest Goodenough, John Pike, Dave Huffin and Carl Hubbell.

The Polka Dots, appearing in Woodstock for the first time, received an enthusiastic reception as those present refused to have them leave the stage before they had played two encores. These two young men are harmonica virtuosos who are well known in radio as well as for their many records.

Another Woodstocker, Harrison Muller, dancing star of Allegro during the past season, brought down the house so to speak with his sophisticated version of the tap dance.

McCarthy was unstinting in his praise and appreciation expressed for the support given him by Clementine Nessel, of Kingston. Mrs. Nessel who is just as accomplished with the piano as she is with her accordion was responsible for the fine orchestra in the pit with the distinguished trumpeter, Bill Moore as leader. An orchestra had been promised from the Diamond Horse Shoe but when at the last minute it was learned they could not appear, Mrs. Nessel took over and produced an orchestra. Besides being pianist with the orchestra for the entire evening, Mrs. Nessel also performed on the accordion in duets with Bill Moore and his trumpet. Moore is an excellent musician who has played with top orchestras throughout the land and it was a great treat to hear him perform on Saturday evening. Mrs. Nessel's exceptional talents are well known to residents of Ulster county where she has been so generous in appearing for many benefits.

An unusual act which had great appeal was that of Don Powell and his masks. As he donned the masks of the various presidential candidates which were in themselves startlingly realistic, he also assumed certain familiar gestures for his impersonation. The masks displayed included those of President Truman, Governor Dewey, and Warren, Henry Wallace, and Senator Vandenberg.

Doris Pines, 18-year-old scholarship student doing post graduate work at Juilliard with Ernest Hutcheson, proved herself to be a superior concert pianist. Miss Pines' performance was technically brilliant and possessed a sureness seldom found in one of her years.

Something different in the magician's line was John Aibonice, who did remarkable things with his many baby chicks. Joe Arcana with his famous bull dog and the comedy team Louis & Ames also gave fine performances.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

Scoring the Same Under New Rules

By WILLIAM E. McKENNEY
America's Card Authority
Written for NEA Service
A new code of bridge laws will become effective throughout the world on October 1. I have received numerous questions recently in regard to the new laws, and I will answer here some of the more important ones, which will interest my readers.

Q.—Are there any scoring changes?

A.—Absolutely none. Although many players thought that the trump scoring would be changed, it is not. The first trick at no trump will still count 40 points and each trick thereafter 30 points.

Q.—Why is it that some people score 300 for a non-vulnerable game and 500 for a vulnerable game, while others score 500 and 700?

A.—In rubber bridge, if you win two games before your opponents make a game, you receive 700 points for the two-game rubber. However, if your side scores a game and the opponents also score a game, the side that scores the next game receives a bonus of only 500 points. In tournament bridge, the game bonus remains 300 points for a non-vulnerable game and 500 points for a vulnerable game.

Q.—Are there any new rules for party bridge?

A.—No. (In party bridge, you play four hands with one partner and then change).
Q.—How is the vulnerability determined in party bridge?

A.—It is arbitrarily set; first deal, the side vulnerable; second and third deals, neither side vulnerable; fourth deal, both sides vulnerable.

Q.—What is the game score in party bridge?

A.—In party bridge, if your side is vulnerable, you receive a bonus of 500 points for making game; if your side is not vulnerable, you receive only 300 points.

Q.—Does the bonus for a part score have changed for party bridge or tournament bridge?

A.—No, it has not. If you make a part score, you receive a bonus of 50 points.

Q.—At the end of four hands at party bridge, does each side simply add up their score?

A.—It is true that many party

Replicas Are Stolen

Philadelphia, Sept. 20 (AP)—Replicas of many of the world's largest and most famous diamonds were stolen over the week-end from the Academy of Natural Sciences, police reported today. Police said they believed the theft was part of a plot to sell the imitations in private channels for large sums of money. They acted in the case just as if true diamonds of high value were stolen, teletyping messages all along the eastern seaboard.

Search Is Canceled

New York, Sept. 20 (AP)—A 9,000-square-mile search for a British freighter, abandoned four days ago by its crew in a North Atlantic hurricane, has been called off. Coast Guard headquarters here reported last night that the freighter Leicester was "presumed sunk" after the crews of two Canadian ocean-going tugs had failed to locate the ship in an extended hunt. The Leicester, a rich prize, was sought by the crews of the two tugs in hopes of collecting salvage money under international marine law. Six crew members of the Leicester, battered by the storm, were reported lost, 30 others were rescued by other freighters.
